

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

This volume of statistics was compiled from the annual reports rendered to the Board by street railway, gas, electric light and power, telephone, sewer, and water utilities for the year ending December 31, 1912. Abstracts of reports from steam railroads for the year ending June 30, 1912, are contained in the volume of statistics published by the Board in 1913, and the reports for the year ending June 30, 1913 were not received in time to be included in the present volume. With the exception of street railways, reports for the year 1912 were received from both operating and non-operating companies, among the latter being included those whose plants are operated by other companies under lease or through the right ensuing from ownership of the majority of their outstanding capital stocks, and also those which expect to become operating companies as soon as their plants are completed and ready for service. No reports were received from holding or other companies which do not directly operate or own any property devoted or about to be devoted to public utility service, and hence do not fall within the definition of "public utility" contained in paragraph 15 of Chapter 195, Laws of 1911.

In this volume are contained abstracts of reports from 337 companies, comprising 26 which were engaged in street railway operations during 1912; 36 which were supplying gas at the close thereof, including one water company which also operates a small gasoline gas plant; 59 which were selling electric current, including five also engaged in supplying water and four which operate both a gas and an electric light and power plant; 40 non-operating gas and electric companies; 42 telephone systems; 21 sewer plants, including four which are operated in connection with water-supply systems; and 128 water companies, including five which also do an electric light and power business and one sewer company whose water service operations, however, are of secondary importance. Reports for the year 1912 were also received before the close of 1913 from fifty municipal plants, scarcely more than one half the number of municipalities furnishing public utility service, but the majority of these reports were much more incomplete and probably less accurately filled out than those of the privately operated utilities, practically all of which filed a report for 1912. On account of the general incompleteness of the municipal reports and the impracticability of seeking their completion or correction with the Board's extremely limited force available for examining and checking the annual reports, compilation of statistics was undertaken from those of only the twelve largest municipal water supply systems which appeared to be for the most part quite as complete and as accurately filled out as were the reports of privately operated water plants of the same size.

At the close of 1912 the total miles of road operated by the 24 operating street railway companies on that date were 898, and of these 482 were maintained by the Public Service Railway Co., whose gross revenue from the operation thereof amounted to approximately $15,000,000. The total revenue derived by the other 23 companies from the operation of the remaining 416 miles of road was only about $3,250,000. Eight of them had each a gross revenue exceeding $100,000 but under $1,000,000; twelve between $10,000 and $100,000; and three under $10,000.

During 1912, a total of 11,505,278 M. cubic feet of coal and water gas was sold within the State by the 33 coal gas and water gas companies, which were operating plants at the close of the year. Of this amount not quite eighty four per cent. was supplied by the Public Service Gas Co., whose gross revenue from the sale thereof amounted to $9,578,925. Four other companies had each a gross revenue above $100,000 but under $1,000,000; fifteen between $25,000 and $100,000; six between $10,000 and $25,000; and seven under $10,000. In addition to the above coal gas and water gas plants there were also being operated at the close of the year three private acetylene gas plants and one gasoline gas plant, from none of which was the gross revenue as high as $5,000.

Of the $9,432,091 total revenue from the current sold by the 55 incorporated companies and three unincorporated private plants, conducting an electric light and power business during the year, seventy-nine per cent. was earned by the Public Service Electric Co. Not quite ten per cent. was earned by five companies having each a gross revenue exceeding $100,000 but under $500,000. There were fourteen having each a gross revenue above $25,000 but under $100,000; fifteen between $10,000 and $25,000, and twenty-three under $10,000.

Approximately $8,200,000 gross revenues were derived by 37 companies from telephone service within the State during 1912. Of this amount over ninety-three per cent. was earned by the two Bell companies. There were two independent companies having gross revenues between $100,000 and $250,000; seven with gross revenues under $25,000 but over $10,000; twenty whose gross revenues fell within the limits of $1,000 and $10,000 and six each of which had less than $1,000 gross revenues.

From the operation of eighteen sewer plants owned by private companies $212,000 gross revenues were derived, of which amount approximately fifty-five per cent. was earned by the Atlantic City Sewerage Co. Four companies had gross revenues between $10,000 and $30,000; five between $1,000 and $10,000, and eight under $1,000.

Approximately forty-five per cent. of the permanent population of the State, and fifty per cent. of the population during summer months, were supplied with water by private companies during 1912. In more than 75 municipalities, including all but three or four of the larger cities, the inhabitants obtain their water from publicly owned and operated plants, but several of the latter purchase their entire supply of water from private companies. The total revenue derived from the sale of water during the year by 111 incorporated and five unincorporated private water plants amounted to more than $4,000,000. One company had a gross revenue of approximately $1,000,000 and there were nine with gross revenues between $100,000 and $500,000; fifteen under $100,000 but exceeding $25,000; nineteen between $10,000 and $25,000; fifty with gross revenues exceeding $1,000 but less than $10,000, and twenty-two under $1,000.

In the case of all the above classes of utilities the 1912 were the second annual reports required to be filed with the Board, and, as was naturally to be expected, were found to be for the most part more completely and accurately filled out than those for 1911. The reports of all street railway, gas, electric light and power, and water companies, for which classes of utilities uniform systems of accounts had been adopted by the Board to take effect on January 1, 1913, were carefully examined and all errors discovered corrected through correspondence with the companies and in a few cases by an inspection of their books. In the statistical tables for each class of utilities practically all averages or ratios were computed by employees of the Board from data contained in the reports, and although every reasonable effort was made to insure the accuracy of these computations as well as of the compilation of the other statistics, quite likely some errors were made which escaped detection, especially in view of the fact that the greater part of the original compilation was done by temporary employees whom it was found necessary to hire for this purpose, inasmuch as there were but two regular employees of the Board in its division of statistics and accounts. But for the reason that the men engaged to assist in this work were found to be of more than usual adaptability and diligence, most of them being college students employed during the summer months and two of them having worked in the same capacity the preceding year, it is confidently believed that there are proportionately as few errors in this volume as ordinarily are found in a work of this kind.

Statistician.

TABLE XI: REVENUE FROM SALE OF GAS PER MILE OF MAIN, PER METER, AND PER CAPITA; COST OF PLANT PER MILE OF MAIN AND PER METER, OPERATING GAS COMPANIES, 1912.

In this table the companies are arranged in the order of their gross operating revenues, with the exception of those whose supply of gas is obtained wholly or partly from another company, with which they are grouped and combined to form a single distribution system. The averages were all computed from data contained in the annual reports, and, with the exception of those in the last two columns, are believed to show in almost every case actual conditions very closely. In but very few, if any, reports has the actual cost of the plant been given, the figures reported under this head representing in most instances merely the par value of securities outstanding, and hence "capitalization" might be a more appropriate designation than "cost of plant," but there are some companies in which the latter exceeds their capitalization, and also a few in which the par value of their outstanding securities is greater than the cost of plant reported.

(a) Revenue from current sold to electric railways or to other electric light and power companies.

(b) Includes revenue from flat rate lighting not separately reported.

(c) Excludes discounts and abatements not reported for each class of revenue.

TABLE XVI: REVENUES PER CAPITA, PER CONSUMER AND PER COST OF PLANT; OPERATING ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER COMPANIES, 1912.

In this table the companies are arranged in the order of their gross revenue from electric operations, and it includes all companies having more than $1,000 of such revenues during the year. Revenue from current sold over company's distribution lines excludes revenue from current sold to other electric light and power companies and to electric railways. The number of consumers shown for each company is the maximum number during the year, but in computing the permanent population per consumer, the minimum number during the year has been taken as the divisor, since the permanent and minimum population are in all cases the same. In computing the average revenue per consumer, the maximum number during the year has been taken as the divisor, and from the dividend has been excluded the revenue derived from municipal street lighting and from current sold to other electric light and power companies or to electric railways. The "cost of plant" used in computing the averages in the next three columns is in but very few cases, if any, the actual cost, the figures shown under this head in most of the reports representing merely the par value of securities outstanding, and hence "capitalization" might be a more appropriate designation than "cost of plant," but there are some companies in which the latter exceeds their capitalization, and also a few in which the par value of their outstanding securities is greater than the cost of plant reported. The ATLANTIC COAST ELECTRIC LIGHT CO., EASTERN PENNA. POWER CO., HUNTERDON ELECTRIC & POWER CO. and the WILLIAMSTOWN ELECTRIC CO. purchase all the current they sell, which fact probably accounts for their comparatively low cost of plant per consumer. By net revenue, as used in this table, is meant the amount remaining after deducting operating expenses and taxes from gross operating revenue.

TABLE XVII: REVENUES, COST OF PLANT, AND OPERATING EXPENSES PER KW-HR. SOLD, ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER COMPANIES, 1912.

In this table the companies are arranged in the order of the quantity of current sold during the year, and it includes every electric light and power company having a gross revenue from the sale of current exceeding $10,000, except the following companies, who kept either no or an incomplete record of the quantity of current sold during the year: ATLANTIC COAST ELECTRIC LIGHT CO., ATLANTIC COUNTY ELECTRIC CO., BRIDGETON ELECTRIC CO., GLOUCESTER COUNTY ELECTRIC CO., HACKETTSTOWN ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY, NEW JERSEY WATER & LIGHT CO., OCEAN GROVE CAMPEETING ASSOCIATION, POINT PLEASANT ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO., SEA ISLE CITY ELECTRIC LIGHT, POWER & WATER CO., TOMS RIVER & ISLAND HEIGHTS ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO., and WEST JERSEY ELECTRIC CO. The "No. of Kw-hrs. delivered over company's distribution lines" excludes the quantity of current sold to other electric light and power companies and to electric railways, and was the divisor used in computing the averages in the succeeding columns except those under "Production Expenses," which were calculated from the total No. of Kw-hrs. sold. The averages in the last column are the sums of those in the three preceding columns.

In 1908 its entire property, including the capital stock of the Pleasantville Electric Co., was leased to the Pleasantville Heat, Light and Power Company for a period of 99 years. The lease provides that the lessee shall pay all outstanding debts of the lessor, all future taxes on the plant and an amount in cash equivalent to 2% on the outstanding par value of capital stock on August 1, 1909, and gradually increasing each year thereafter until it reaches the maximum of 5% in 1913. The amount thus received by the lessor company is to be paid each year to its stockholders, less $\frac{1}{2}$ of 1 per cent., which is to be used in maintaining its organization. On December 31, 1912, there were outstanding \$100,000 par value of bonds, on which 5% interest was accrued and paid, and \$125,000 par value of common stock on which no dividends were declared or paid during the year. TABLE XXV: REVENUE FROM SALE OF WATER AND COST OF PLANT PER MILE OF MAIN AND PER CONSUMER; REVENUES PER CAPITA AND PER COST OF PLANT, OPERATING WATER COMPANIES, 1912.

In this table the companies are arranged in the order of their gross operating revenue, and it includes all operating water companies having more than $1,000 of such revenues during the year. The averages were all computed from data contained in the annual reports and with the exception of those based on "cost of plant" are believed to show actual conditions very closely. In but very few, if any, reports has the actual cost of plant been reported, the figures shown under this head in most cases representing merely the par value of securities outstanding, and hence capitalization might be a more appropriate designation than "cost of plant," but there are some companies in which the latter exceeds their capitalization, and also a few in which the par value of their outstanding securities is greater than the cost of the plant reported. By "Net Revenue," as used in this table, is meant the amount remaining after deducting operating expenses and taxes from the gross operating revenue.

TABLE XXVI: OUTPUT PER CONSUMER, PER CAPITA, AND PER MILE OF MAIN; REVENUES, EXPENSES AND COST OF PLANT PER M. GALLONS OF WATER SUPPLIED DURING YEAR, OPERATING WATER COMPANIES, 1912.

In this table the companies are arranged in the order of their gross operating revenues, and it includes all operating water companies having a gross annual revenue from the sale of water exceeding $10,000 during the year, with the exception of the Merchantville Water Co., and Flemington Water Co., who fail to report any record of the output or quantity of water supplied during the year, as do also very nearly all companies having revenues of less than $10,000. By quantity of water supplied, as used in this table and upon which all the averages are based, is meant not the amount sold but the total output, exclusive of the amount delivered to other water supply systems.

* Reports of these companies cover a period greater or less than twelve months and in computing the averages in the third, fourth, sixth and last columns the output reported was divided by the number of months covered by the report and multiplied by twelve to obtain a yearly average.

(a) Nearly all water sold is distributed by other water-supply systems.

(b) Includes cost of water purchased.

(c) Estimated yearly output based upon that reported for last eight months of 1912.

(d) Excludes water sold to other water-supply systems.

(e) Average per total quantity of water supplied including that sold to other water-supply systems.

(f) Estimated.

(g) Greater part of water is sold to one large consumer.

(h) Only a small part of water supplied is pumped.
